Revive traditional flood prevention measures in Valley: Experts

New Delhi, Sep 16: The Prime Minister, Narendra Modi on Tuesday urged the residents of Jammu and Kashmir to revive traditional flood prevention measures in the Valley, and said that the Prime Minister and the President of India would be monitoring the relief work on a daily basis.

"We have taken an important decision to have a National Flood Relief Committee," he said.

The Prime Minister said that the floods in the Valley had caused a lot of damage and that the government was committed to providing all possible help to the people affected by the floods.

He also said that the government was making all efforts to ensure that the relief work was carried out in a transparent and efficient manner.

The Prime Minister also asked the residents to be prepared for the possibility of more floods in the future.

Regarding the relief work, he said that the government was providing all possible assistance to the people and that the relief work was being carried out in a professional manner.

On Tuesday, the Prime Minister also visited the flood-affected areas in the Valley and met with the victims.

He also visited a flooded area in the city of Srinagar and interacted with the residents.
