Kashmir: only place in world where pellet guns are used for crowd control

Forces continue its liberal use despite options available: Experts

Haroon Mirani

Srinagar, Aug 1: A senior police officer said on Sunday that the police had a better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010 when pellet guns were used to stop the menace. He said the police had a better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010 when pellet guns were used to stop the menace.

"Police had better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010. Forces continue its liberal use despite options available: Experts"

Amita Verma

The India Today Group

New Delhi:

Stone pelting continues to be a tense issue in Kashmir. However, the police had a better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010 when pellet guns were used to stop the menace.

"Police had better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010. Forces continue its liberal use despite options available: Experts"

Amita Verma

The India Today Group

New Delhi:

Stone pelting continues to be a tense issue in Kashmir. However, the police had a better plan to tackle stone pelting in 2010 when pellet guns were used to stop the menace.