It gives me immense pleasure to note that Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K is observing 8th Statistics Day on 29th June, 2014 to commemorate and pay tribute to the late Prof. P.C. Mahalanobis on his 121st birth anniversary for his significant contribution in improving Statistical System and economic planning in the country. The theme of this year's Statistics Day chosen by GOI, Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation is "Service Sector Statistics".
 The Statistics Day is observed with the objective to create awareness among stakeholders especially the younger generation about the role and importance of statistics in various fields of development besides, drawing inspiration from contribution of (late) P.C. Mahalanobis in the fields of Statistics and economic planning.
 I wish Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K all the best on this day for making concerted efforts to improve statistics in the State.

I am pleased to note that Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K is observing 8th Statistics Day on 29th June, 2014 to commemorate and pay tribute to late Prof. P.C. Mahalanobis on his 121st birth anniversary. The theme of this year's Statistics Day chosen by GOI, Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation is "Service Sector Statistics".
 The main objective of observing Statistics Day is to sensitize and create awareness among stakeholders particularly younger generation for drawing inspiration from contribution of Prof. P.C. Mahalanobis in the fields of Statistics and economic planning.
 I extend my best wishes to the Directorate of Economics & Statistics J&K on this occasion.

Dr. Manohar Lal Sharma

Chief Secretary,
 Government of Jammu & Kashmir

M E S S A G E

I am happy to know that June 29, 2014 is being observed as the "8th Statistics Day" by the Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K, to pay tributes to the late Prof. P.C. Mahalanobis, the architect of the Indian statistical system, on his 121st birth anniversary.
 The use of statistics has increased manifold and there is now a demand for real time or near real time data on almost all aspects of life and the economy. The theme of this year's Statistics Day, chosen by the Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation, Government of India, is "Service Sector Statistics", which is vital for the measurement of State / District incomes.
 The need of the hour is to identify new information needs, stemming from fundamental changes in our societies. To meet these requirements, new statistical & analytical methods and innovative statistical systems are required to be introduced.
 I hope that this day will inspire the younger generation by acquainting it with the role and importance of statistics for development planning & policy formulation.
 I wish all the best to the Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K, on this day for working in a mission mode to produce quality data for use by planners & policy makers.

I am happy to note that Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K is observing 8th Statistics Day on 29th June, 2014 to commemorate and pay tribute to the Late Prof. P. C. Mahalanobis, the father of Indian Statistical System, on his 121st birth anniversary. The theme of the current year's Statistics Day chosen by GOI, Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation is "Service Sector Statistics".
 We are living in a global information society where the need for flow of information is ever increasing. Statistics plays an important role in every field of human activity. Its role in determining per capita income, unemployment, measuring poverty, population growth rate, housing, education, medical facilities etc. does not need to be overemphasized. Statistics plays a vital role in shaping and providing scientific information system that is useful in almost every aspect of human life. Analytical statistical methods for modern decision need continuous improvement and application in every sphere of research and administrative fields. It has been observed that business establishments and Governments depend increasingly on use statistical methods for improvement of quality of data management which helps them to arrive at accurate decision making.
 I wish the Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K all the very best for compilation, analysis and dissemination of statistical data in a missionary mode and for observing statistics day to pay tribute to Prof P. C. Mahalanobis on his 121st birth anniversary.

M E S S A G E

In recognition of the notable contributions made by Late Prof. Prasanta Chandra Mahalanobis in the fields of economic planning and statistical development, the Government of India has designated 29th June every year, coinciding with his birth anniversary, as the "Statistics Day". The Directorate of Economics & Statistics, J&K has been observing the Statistics Day every year from 2007. This year's "Statistics Day" will be 8th in row. The theme for the Statistics Day 2014 chosen by Government of India, Ministry of Statistics & Programme Implementation is "Service Sector Statistics" which forms one of the important constituents for measurement of State/District Incomes.
 The Statistics Day is observed with an objective of creating public awareness among people, especially the younger generation. The idea is to prompt people to fetch inspiration from Late Prof P C Mahalanobis about role of statistics in socio-economic planning along with the policy formulation.
 Statistics is the bed rock of modern analytical tools which are used for policy making. It is an area where our endeavour is to constantly improve the relevant institutional practices and methodologies for data collection, compilation and analysis, as well as the knowledge and skill base of the professionals engaged in the subject. I believe this day will inspire our statisticians & all stake holders to accept the emerging challenges of global environment and work with more missionary mode to address data gaps besides, improving the quality of statistical data on various fields which will serve as basis for development of the economy.
 I convey my best wishes to all those associated with the celebration of statistics day.
